A rural village with a magnificent natural environment and its traditional winegrowing industry, Sérignan, in Languedoc, has developed into a modern town over recent decades. Wildlife is present in 2744 hectares. The local vineyards account for around 1000 hectares surrounding the historical town centre and the new developments.

The seaside with 3 miles of fine sandy beaches, some of the most beautiful in the region. The protected area of the ?Orpellières?, owned by the Conservatoire Littoral (a public administrative body for the protection of threatened natural areas), has helped to maintain its natural state with sand dunes and footpaths.
