Located in Fontanès, around 20 kilometres north of Montpellier, Château La Roque wine estate is one of the gems of the famous Pic Saint Loup appellation. On a soil of clay and limestone scree, the terraced vineyard forms an amphitheatre composed of different plots carved out of the scrubland. Here, nature is everywhere. The place is amazingly unspoiled, offering a unique interaction between rocks, plants, vines and woods. The remains of a feudal castle proudly testify to a rich history linked to an exceptional site at the crossroads of numerous roads travelled by man since the dawn of time. Château La Roque produces white, rosé and red wines from vines which have been cultivated biodynamically for many years. Sylviane and Bertrand, owners of this magical place since 2015, are striving to write with their team a new page in the vineyard's history.
